PATHOS OF AGE

We have read many philosophical
and other trises on how to grow old gracefully—that the years make no difference—that we are as young as the mind—and other soporiferous, lullabies; and to some extent profited thereby.

On the whole I believe that men
do not put up the battle against age
as waged by the other sex, and what is more do not resent it to the same degree. Perhaps we are more indifferent to the toll that time exacts and refuse to worry over the inevitable, or perhaps the everyday tasks keep our minds so busy that we have not time to give the subject any consideration. The man of fifty or sixty, while his pulchri-
tude may not make him a candidate for a beauty show, and although he may not be blessed with the amount of vigor that characterize those of younger years, has the advantage
of knowledge acquired in the school
of experience.

There is a real pathos in an item from London. It tells of several hundred "discarded" women, who find themselves too old to compete for a livelihood with young girls of more alluring looks and figures, landing themselves together in the Over Thirty Association.

It does not seem possible that such a situation could exist, but unfortunately these young women—
and I say young advisedly—find themselves in that predicament and with the label "old" upon them.
Many of these jobless women,
who describe their plight as "urgent and dire" are the victims of the post-war period when Britain's sacrifice of a million on the battlefields
left thousands of attractive women
with scant hopes of marriage. Now, they admit, they are older, and romance has passed them by.

Ludwig Tells
Other Cities Of Work Done Here

Councilman Otto Ludwig at the Council session last evening told
of attending two meetings of public interest last week, one the convention of the Bay Cities Peace officers at San Jose, and the other
the meeting of the fire chiefs at Alameda.

Ludwig said the sessions were very instructive and the work of the safety councils was stressed.
The councilman told the San Jose convention of the work being done
in this city by the traffic safety council, of taking the work, in an educational way not only into the grammar schools of the city but
to the high school as well.

At the Alameda meeting he listened to an interesting talk by City Building Inspector A. J. Hurley
who told of the co-ordination that should exist between fire departments, and building departments,
and how the fire losses of cities
could be reduced.

House To Crack
Down On Business

WASHINGTON, March 30.—UP—
The House ways and means committee today "cracked down" on business opponents of the Administration's tax bill, disclosing that the president of a Boston corporation received $304,427.11 in salary
and bonus in 1934 although the company paid no dividends for five years.

The incident occurred after Gov.
T. H. Harvey, commissioner of internal revenue bluntly warned the group that proposed tax revisions fail to meet President Roosevelt's demands for additional revenue. He urged that other sources of cash be tapped and that exemption and special treatment for corporations be kept at a minimum.

EXECUTIVE ACTS

NEWARK, N. J., Tuesday, March 31.—UP—A telephoned warning that an attempt to assassinate Gov. Harold G. Hoffman will be made tonight when Bruno Richard Hauptmann is to be executed was received last night at police headquarters here.

John Fagan, police switchboard operator, took the following message from an unidentified caller: "I want to deliver a message to you. Your governor will be assassinated tonight."

TRENTON, N. J., March 30.—UP—Mrs. Anna Hauptmann
collapsed tonight when she was informed that only a miracle could save her husband from death in the electric chair tomorrow night.

BRUNO AMAZED

SATE PRISON, Trenton, N. J., March 30.—UP—Bruno Richard Hauptmann was stricken almost speechless when his attorney, Lloyd Fisher, informed him tonight that the board of pardons had ruled he must die tomorrow night. He did not break.

"I can't believe it," Hauptmann exclaimed. "It seems impossible. What happened to the man who confessed to the crime.
Where is he?"

NEW DEALERS
WIN TEST OF
UTILITY ACT

WASHINGTON, March 30.—UP—
The Supreme court today refused to consider a challenge of the 1933
Public Utility Holding company act which the New Deal claimed did not present a fair test of the bitterly fought law.

In another decision regarded as a "sweeping victory" by government attorneys, the court ruled that attempts of the Sugar Institute, Inc., to control competition through a
"code of ethics" adopted in 1923
violated the anti-trust laws.

On a plea that economic depression had charged conditions since 1923, the court agreed to consider the problem anew as involved in a test of the New York law.

Refusal to consider the appeal of Burco, Inc., for a ruling on validity of the holding company act was a major strategic victory for the New Deal in its long fight with utility interests. It means that a final decision on the disputed law cannot come before next fall when the government hopes for action in its suit against the Electric Bond and Share company.

Lamson Fifth
Trial Will Be Decided Soon

SAN JOSE, March 30.—UP—Conferences to be opened Wednesday
by District Attorney Fred Thomas
and his aides will determine whether David Lamson must face trial a fifth time on murder charges, it was indicated today.

Allen P. Lindsay, prosecutor in Lamson's previous trials, is due
back in his office Wednesday, following a brief vacation at conclusion of Lamson's fourth trial which ended with a jury deadlock, nine
to three for Lamson's conviction.
Thomas said no disposition would be made of the trial issue pending Lindsay's return.

for the past year today was presented to Superior Judge Thomas auditing firm of P. W. La Frente and Company, Bullock Kellogg and Mitchell, 605 Mills street San Francisco. The auditors were hired by the grand jury. Judge Johnston indicated his intention of approving

the bill.

Modern Raleigh

THIS RESIDENT of Hartford, Conn., went Sir Walter Raleigh one better, when the Connecticut River flooded the capital city. Spreading down his coat for a lady to step on would have done little good, so the gallant raised the girl to his shoulders and gave her a pickaback ride in this wise. And the story ends that she came through the flood dry-shod.

April 28 Set
As Trial Day
In Dog Case

MARTINEZ, March 30.—Superior Judge Thomas D. Johnston today set Tuesday, April 28 as the time for trial of seven employees of the El Cerrito Kennel Club, facing charges of gambling for asserted violation of a state law prohibiting pool selling.

Date of trial was set after F. A.
Wright, one of the seven defendants whose arraignment was continued from last Monday, appeared in court and entered a not guilty plea.

For a time it appeared Judge
Johnston might issue bench warrants for the arrest of some of the defendants who failed to appear in court. After a delay of half an hour Attorney Samuel Gold appeared for the defendants and the presence of the defendants was waived, averting what seemed for a time as certain issuance of orders for arrest. (Continued On Page 5)

inent Elko men, flying here from Reno, was expressed tonight when the plane became long overdue.

by Newton Crumley, Jr., son of a wealthy hotel man and former lieutenant in the Army Air Corps left

TOT MURDER
CONFESSED
BY SPINSTER

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 30.—
UP—Myrtle Wilkinson, 40-
year-old spinster, in city hospital recovering from a suicide attempt, sobbed out a story today of how she killed eight-year-old Marilyn Morgan in a bathtub "because I loved her."

Thwarted mother love, she said,
led her to kidnap and kill the child,
daughter of a lifelong friend. She had reared the girl almost from birth.

"LOVED HER"

Marilyn's mother, a waitress,
known as Mrs. Helen Davis and Helen Morgan, said she had tried to break the woman's "influence"
over her daughter.

"I did it," gasped Miss Wilkinson, rousing from a stupor, "because I loved her and her mother had taken her away from me! I had her for seven years.

GAS BRINGS RESCUE

tracted a janitor to the room Miss Wilkinson rented Saturday. He

Killed Lover
To Stop Assault
Defendant Says

NEW YORK, March 30.—UP—Blonde Vera Stretz today gasped
out to a jury that she shot and killed Dr. Fritz Gebhardt, her former lover, to stop a maniacal assault.

She no longer was his mistress,
as she had been for more than a year, she asserted, and was unable to bear the thought of loving a man who had betrayed his wife and family.

"He wanted me to go on with him,
without marrying," she whispered
almost inaudibly. "I told him I could not have that sort of life any more. I told him it would kill me."

This was on November 8, when the 43-year old German economist
returned from an European trip
and told her "that he was not a man
to get married."

Four nights later she told the jury, he tricked her into coming to his apartments two floors above
hers on the pretext he suffered from an old ailment and needed her aid. She looked in his bureau for an electric pad and noticed there
the gun with which she later killed
him.

She'll Not Trust
Strangers Again

MARTINEZ, March 30.—Chance
acquaintances she met at the El Cerrito dog track were blamed today by Mrs. Rose Mool, 2938 Polk street, San Francisco, for beating and robbing her of $28 and a watch. Mrs. Mool was found wandering in a daze near the San Mateo-Hayward bridge by a truck driver,
who took her to Redwood City police. She said two men and two women she met at the dog track offered to take her home. Near the bridge they robbed her and threw
her from their car, she reported.

Carlson Gets
Big Sum For Water Project

An allocation of $2,500,000 for the water project in the eastern section of the county was secured by Attorney Thomas M. Carlson on his recent airplane trip to Washington, thus assuring the beginning of work at once following the election
for the formation of the district
next month. This was the pleasing news announced at the meeting of the City Council last evening.

Carlson, who through his desire to save time, has developed a penchant for traveling in airplanes and thus earned the sobriquet of "Flying Tom" gave an interesting description of conditions in the flood-stricken cities of the Eastern states. On his trip he passed over Pittsburgh, Johnstown, McKeesport
and Washington.

There were miles and miles of water, and from the plains could be seen houses that had been swept from their foundations and lodged against wharves. At Pittsburgh
they had to fly around for about forty minutes before a landing
could be made in order to permit
many planes bearing medical supplies to land.

The airport at Washington was under ten feet of water, and the landing had to be made at Camden,
New Jersey.

Carlson said the scene he witnessed was one of desolation, and of the terrible havoc the flood waters had wrought.

McGroarty And
Dr. Townsend At
Parting Of Ways

WASHINGTON, March 30.—UP—
Revolt split the Townsend movement tonight as Rep. John S. Mc-Groarty, D., Calif., appealed over the head of Dr. F. E. Townsend to members of Townsend clubs thro-
out the nation for support in the fight for "adequate, respectable old age pensions."

McGroarty sponsor of the $200 a month pension bill in Congress,
charged Townsend with abandoning his original plan and took issue with what he described as a new proposal for billions of dollars
of tax exempt bonds in place of the $24,000,000,000 a year transactions
tax.

The California Democrat, who essayed the role of a "peace maker" in an attempt to reconcile Townsend and the co-founder of the plan, Robert E. Clements, said
there was no hope of getting the latter back into OARP Ltd., from which he resigned as secretary-
treasurer last week.

Inspector Finds
Buildings Unsafe

City Building Inspector A. J. Hurley made a report to the Council
last evening about two buildings
of which complaints had been made
of their condition.

Hurley stated that the structure
at Ninth and Ripley was owned by El Cerrito people, that it was approximately 912, made of straight up and down boards, and could not possibly comply with the building
code so far as human occupancy
was concerned.

The other building complained of
is on Park Place. It is a one-story brick structure, and has not been occupied for years. The inspector said the roof was gone, the floors
had buckled up and that there was a dangerous crack in the rear wall.

After hearing the report the inspector was granted a week's additional time in which to further pursue his investigation.

U. S. AGENTS
KEEP QUIET
ON ARRESTS

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., March 30.—UP—Alvin Karpis, public enemy No. 1, is believed to have been one of three prisoners
seized by Department of Justice
agents in a swift, secret tear gas
raid on a farmhouse near here
shortly after dawn today.

The G-men, numbering from "12
to 15," refused to comment on the raid.

CAPTURED TRIO

Local authorities also said they were without any knowledge of the raiding party, which was armed heavily.
The Federal agents were reported to have captured two men and a woman. With their prisoners, the leaders of the party boarded a plane as soon as the raid was completed.

SOUGHT ON TIP

Chief of Detectives Dutch Ack-ers told the United Press that for the past two weeks he had been seeking the St. Paul kidnaper on the basis of a "tip."

Chief Deputy Sheriff Roy Emery
said he believed the agents had captured two or three persons in their raid on the farmhouse, which is about five miles south of there,
near Lawrence Station, Ark.

They surrounded the house, believed to have been rented under a

Bay Region Is
Swept By Cold,
Gale-Like Winds

Although "clearing weather" has been promised for this area today,
a storm of gale-like winds swept
in from the ocean last night.

Storm warnings were posted from Santa Barbara to Eureka and all small crafts were warned to hurry
to safety.
Shortly before 10 o'clock last evening, chilling winds began blowing away a drizzle rain which had dampened the city throughout the day.

At midnight the wind had attained
a high velocity. At that time no damage had been reported here but it was stated that intense force of the gusts subsided, rain, various plate glass windows and small buildings would be the worse for wear
before dawn approached.

More showers were predicted for Wednesday. Northern California
may expect snow over the mountains, the weather man predicted.

Lions Club Will
Have Ladies Night
At Hotel Tonight

Ladies Night will be held this evening by the Richmond Lions at the Hotel Carquinez. Dinner will be served at 6:30. There will be no
noon meeting of the club.

W. P. Drummer will be chairman of the evening and City Manager Thalia Thompson Donnelly
will be the speaker.

D. J. Shaw is in charge of entertainment and he has announced
that in addition to special numbers
by the orchestra there will be songs
and dances by "Tom Kelly," noted
master of romances and songs by Ruthie Carson.

BRIEF SESSION OF EL CERRITO COUNCIL HELD

On the suggestion of Street Commissioner W. F. Huber the Council of El Cerrito at its meeting Monday night granted permission to erect a backdrop for small soft ball diamond in Poinsettia park in the Mira Vista district.

PASSED TO PLANNERS

Application of A. R. Weisgerber for a permit to operate a used car market on San Pablo avenue between Cutting boulevard and Hill street was referred to the planning commission.

DEED REFERRED

Deed for property for a street opening over the right of way of the East Bay Street Railways Ltd. at Hotchkiss avenue for the new junior high school was referred to City Attorney T. H. DeLap and City Engineer H. D. Chapman.

The deed provided that the railway company could not be assessed for any street improvement against its property facing the opening.

CHIEF TO REPORT

Request of A. Zimmerman, 414 B street, Richmond, for a permit to conduct a show employing six people in El Cerrito was referred to Chief of Police R. R. Cheek.

COMPLAIN ABOUT WATER

A communication from the Stege Sanitary District stating that the Division of Highways had complained about the water from the pottery running over Kearney street and Schmidt Lane and suggesting the pottery put in a settling tank was referred to City Engineer H. D. Chapman.

DELINQUENTS FAVORED

Second and final reading of a tax ordinance was given last evening. It provides that with the payment of taxes for this year, delinquent taxes on property for preceding years can be redeemed without penalty by paying interest of 7 percent on the amounts in arrears.

Under the ordinance the offer holds good until the last Monday in April, the purpose being not only of favoring those who are delinquent but also of getting money into the city treasury.

Price Of Sugar Is Increased

SAN FRANCISCO, March 30.—UP—A price increase of 15 cents a hundredweight in the price of cane and beet sugar was announced today by the Western Sugar Co. and the Spreckels Sugar Co.

Western announced a new price of $5 per hundredweight for cane sugar. Spreckels quoted a new beet sugar price of $4.90.

BOY SCOUT TROOP HAS NEW LEADER

Boy Scout Troop No. 1, sponsored by the Lion's club has a new leader in the person of A. E. Christensen, who was once Scout master of one of the Richmond troops. Plans for Scout activities were discussed at a committee meeting last night at city hall when Mr. Christensen conferred with other committee members from the Lion's Club as to methods of arousing interest in Scout work.

RIDING ENJOYED BY REORGANIZED CLUB

The Riding Club was reorganized Thursday evening by the young ladies of the Y. L. I. and Miss Katherine Bertone, formerly of El Cerrito, heads the group. Miss Emily Apostolo and others of this city have signed up and horseback riding was enjoyed Sunday by quite a number of members.

NADIS ELIMINATED IN TENNIS TOURNAMENT

George Nadis and Henry Konk played off the first round of the tennis championship contest now being staged by the Louis Davis sporting goods store for Richmond, El Cerrito and Hayward, Sunday afternoon in Richmond with Konk winning the match. Other matches are being arranged for next Sunday at which time more contestants will take part in the play.

MRS. GIACALONE BACK FROM PITTSBURG VISIT

Mrs. J. B. Giacalone of San Pedro returned from Pittsburgh to El Cerrito this week where she is visiting with members of the De Martini family. Her husband will join her here for the Easter holiday after which the couple and their small daughter Dorothy will return to their home at San Pedro.

CRABBING PARTY MAKES FINE CATCH

Ed Lane, Ed Wilkins, Carl Douglas and Harold Renaugh went crabbing in the Pacific at Tennessee Cove, Sunday. They came home with 15 nice ones. The boys have finished overhauling their boat and are now ready for their usual summer Sunday outings on bay and ocean and the fish had better be wary.

FIREMEN'S SOCIAL PRONOUNCED SUCCESS

One of the most successful parties held in many months was the firemen's social Saturday evening. Nine tables of whist players enjoyed the games managed by S. S. Hudson and Ed Gannon. Refreshments followed and then dancing until midnight.

Prizes were awarded to N. J. Wilson, G. E. Cunningham, Walter Thompson, Mrs. Leota Burnett, Mrs. S. C. Masterson, Sr., Mrs. Otto Braskat, Mrs. Melvin Patterson, J. E. Smith, H. H. McWilliam, Mrs. E. Ingman, and Hank Kleinfelt of Martinez.

KEGE STILL LEADS POPULARITY CONTEST

The number of votes for contestants in the most popular person in El Cerrito contest now being staged by the Louis Hagen Post American Legion, in connection with its 49th celebration, increased over the week end but did not change materially the relative places of the entrants.

Joe Kage is still at the head of the list, followed by Mrs. Peralta which was the position of both these contestants all last week. Kage had, Saturday night, a total of 27,710 votes; Mrs. Peralta had 22,440. Miss Frances Perez had moved up to third place with a total of 16,430. Next in line was Mrs. Billy O'Jay with 14,970. F. M. Gilbert's friends had remembered him to the tune of 13,230, and the other contestants trailed along considerably under these figures.

However, as many votes are being withheld to pile up the totals during the last few days, there may be some with leads above some of those whose names appear above. There is considerable interest developing in the contest and votes are being solicited for favored candidates.

Mutual Help Pact Discussed By 3 Nations

LONDON, March 30.—UP—Leaders of the British cabinet met in special session today to discuss plans for joint military, naval and air action by Britain, France and Belgium in event of an unprovoked attack on any of the three nations. They approved a meeting of the British, French and Belgian general staffs for technical conversations regarding mutual assistance against an aggressor. The meeting probably will be invoked in Brussels, April 6.

It was decided to hold the military parleys regardless of German Chancellor Hitler's reply to the Lorraine powers' chief proposals, expected to be delivered here tomorrow. It was revealed after the meeting, however, that the cabinet decided to make it possible for the German general staff to join military talks when the time seemed propitious.

CUNHA AGAIN ATTACKED AT MOONEY TRIAL

SAN FRANCISCO, March 30.—UP—Edward J. Cunha, state witness, and John Finerty, attorney for Tom Mooney, remained in the spotlight of the famed labor prisoner's hearing on an application for a writ of habeas corpus today as they wrangled over statements of spectators at the Preparedness Day bombing.

Finerty introduced a statement of William Smith, Oakland police officer, in which he reported the Edeus sisters—Nellie and Sadie—said they had seen Mooney and Warren K. Billings at 731 Market street on the day of the explosion which killed 16 persons.

SAW TWO MEN
In the sisters' original statement, they asserted they had seen "two men carrying a suitcase" at the corner of Market and Stuart streets, the scene of the blast.

The Smith report, Finerty maintained, corroborated one of Draper Hand, member of the San Francisco police department, who said the Edeus had been taken to the city jail to identify the "two men with the suitcase," but had not recognized Mooney and Billings as the pair.

FINERTY CHARGED
"Doesn't the Smith report corroborate Hand's statement?" Finerty asked Cunha in cross-examination.

"Knowing Smith as I do now," Cunha replied, "I wouldn't necessarily believe what he says." Cunha, a former assistant district attorney, aided in the prosecution of Mooney.

"Smith helped frame the Edeus on a spurious charge," Cunha elaborated. "Along with Walter Peterson, Oakland police chief, Edward McKenzie and Tom O'Connor, he went to the Edeus home and told Nellie he had a warrant for her arrest, which was not true. He told her that Frank O'Connell had confessed everything, and that she might as well come through with what she knew about the case. They men handled her."

"Finally, she edged over toward a bureau, took a loaded pistol from a drawer, and ordered them all to get out and stay out."

12TH DAY ON STAND
Finerty then asked Cunha if he would have presented Hand's statement in which the policeman said the Edeus had been unable to identify Mooney and Billings at the jail.

"I hadn't seen Hand's statement, and didn't know it existed," Cunha replied. "The Edeus' testimony as originally presented would have conflicted with Hand's report, and the district attorney's office as a rule used a first statement of a witness, rather than a later or amended one."

Cunha spent his 12th day on the witness stand during five of which he has been grilled by Finerty. He will be called again tomorrow.

Aged Driver Gets Six Months' Jail Term From Odell

Arrested on charges of driving while drunk, Alonzo C. Bennett, 74, of San Pablo, was sentenced to serve six months in the county jail, when he appeared before Judge C. A. Odell yesterday.

Steve Thevenin, 28, of San Pablo, who was riding with Bennett was fined $10 and was given a 90-day suspended sentence on a drunk charge.

Two Arrested In Baseball Battle

An argument over the decision of a baseball umpire resulted in a fist fight and the subsequent arrest of two youths on charges of disturbing the peace.

Albert Falek, 32, of 1015 Nicholl avenue and Henry Gillan, 23, of 615 Seventeenth street, were arrested at the Nicholl field and will appear next Saturday in police court.

DRIVER ARRESTED

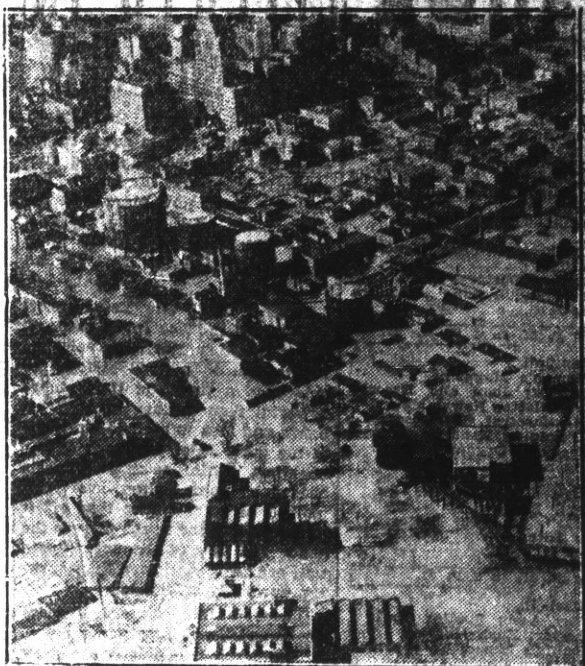

MARTINEZ, March 30.—Eugene Bellinomi, 47, of Martinez, was arrested by state highway police near here tonight on charges of driving while drunk. He was taken to the county jail awaiting hearing in the local justice court.

LET THERE BE LIGHT

Safety in night driving demands good headlights. This means that they must be strong enough but not glaring and they must be properly focused. The One-Eyed Cyclops of Homeric mythology was no more vicious than the one-eyed auto on the highway.

The vibration of your car easily changes the tilt and focal adjustment of your lights and may loosen the lamps. Test your lights frequently. Turn them on at night and then walk down the road 50 or 75 feet. Turn around and look at your lights, then ask yourself, frankly, how you would like to meet them on the highway. If they glare, if one is stronger than the other, or if they are too dim to adequately light the roadway something is wrong. Always carry a "spare" bulb.

Townsenders To Have Candidate For Led's Post

UTAH, March 30.—UP—A Congressional candidate has been named by members of Townsend old age pension clubs in the First Congressional district, it was learned today.

The candidate, whom Townsend leaders refused to name until he has been approved by the national board of directors of the movement will oppose the candidates of the two regular parties.

Representative Clarence Len, incumbent Democrat, recently aroused antagonism of the state Townsend organization for his purported opposition to the Townsend plan.

Senator Borah In Oregon Vote

SALEM, Ore., March 30.—UP—Senator William E. Borah today entered the Oregon primaries for the Republican nomination for president of the United States when his candidacy was filed by Col. Thomas R. Hamer, Portland attorney.

Colonel Hamer, close personal friend of the Idaho Senator and former congressman from Idaho, said Borah would release a statement from Washington.

Driver Cited In Auto Collision

Richard Chiocco, 2332 Pine street, was cited to appear in police court by local police yesterday on charges of driving without an operator's license in his possession, following an automobile accident yesterday.

Cars driven by Chiocco and Carl Drexel, 824 Seventh street, collided at the intersection of Ninth street and Nevil avenue, Danville, with slight.

Today's Safe Driving Hint

By The National Safety Council

LET THERE BE LIGHT

Safety in night driving demands good headlights. This means that they must be strong enough but not glaring and they must be properly focused. The One-Eyed Cyclops of Homeric mythology was no more vicious than the one-eyed auto on the highway.

The vibration of your car easily changes the tilt and focal adjustment of your lights and may loosen the lamps. Test your lights frequently. Turn them on at night and then walk down the road 50 or 75 feet. Turn around and look at your lights, then ask yourself, frankly, how you would like to meet them on the highway. If they glare, if one is stronger than the other, or if they are too dim to adequately light the roadway something is wrong. Always carry a "spare" bulb.

Water Suit Is Dismissed From Court Calendar

SAN FRANCISCO, March 30.—UP—A ruling of the Federal district court dismissing a suit over water rights filed by the American Falls Water District, Inc., of Idaho, was upheld today by the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

The suit was dismissed on grounds the United States was named as one of the parties to the action. The appellate court held the fact deprived the Federal government of its property rights by giving it an opportunity to defend the suit.

The original suit was against Lynn Crandell, E. W. Parry, the American Falls Water District and Harold Jakes, secretary of the district.

RFC Loans For Bridge Awaited

SAN FRANCISCO, March 30.—UP—Officials of the San Francisco Oakland bay bridge today said they believed the Reconstruction Finance Corporation will approve this week an application for a loan to aid construction of $15,000,000 interim facilities on the span.

C. H. Purcell, chief engineer, and Lloyd Dinkelspiel, bridge district attorney, retaining the Washington reported all conditions of the loan apparently have been met. Florence McAllister, bridge attorney retained in Washington, complete arrangements for the loan.

THAT PAIN IN YOUR RIGHT SIDE

The immediate cause of most abdominal pain occurring on the right side is gas pressure. The gas is produced by fermentation of food either in the small intestine or in the colon. Sometimes gas pressure will cause distress in healthy organs, but the most acute pain is produced when an inflamed organ is pressed upon by the part distended by gas.

There are some sections of the colon where the normal shape of the colon in these sections. For example, on the right side of the body, the normal colon extends directly upward for several inches. This part of the colon has been given the name of the ascending colon. The food residue must be forced upward through this extension and if there is any inflammation at all, there will be a development of a weakness shown in this ascending colon. Frequent secretions in eating which encourage food fermentation and constipation, will be sufficient to cause the ascending colon to distend and enlarge. After this has occurred, an X-ray picture will clearly show the colon to be stretched and ballooned into an abnormal shape.

The appendix is the sensitive extension of the colon at the caecum and resembles a very small pig tail. When gas forms in the colon at this section, it may cause increased pressure on the appendix, leading to irritation. After the appendix has been inflamed for a sufficient length of time, it becomes inflamed and either acute or chronic appendicitis may result.

A pain occurring on the right side in women is frequently due to gas pressure against the right ovary and pressure of this type may undoubtedly cause considerable discomfort. As a general rule, any of these pains which are noticeable on the right side, will disappear after the accumulation of gas is removed. If they are due primarily to the pressure from fermentation of food, as that occurs, the discomfort will be relieved, and it is not unusual to be the case when the pain is due to actual inflammation. Continued inflammation will induce a pain which is more continuous and of the same time, more severe, than the various pains due to gas pressure. However, I suggest that when any type of abdominal pain occurs, the best plan is to have an examination made, in order to see what is causing the symptoms. A careful examination will determine whether the distress is due primarily to flatulence or to some other cause.

Temporary relief from pain in the right side is usually gained through taking the small enema. Try using one quart of plain warm water. The enema will serve to cleanse the entire lower colon, and will often provide almost instant relief. After securing relief, then begin your search for the real cause of your trouble, in order that this cause may not be continued.

When the cause is flatulence, the use of a rubber diet and taking upon normal intestinal elimination, will be sufficient to remove the cause that is necessary to cause the complete disappearance of that pain in the right side.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Question: Mrs. Stanley H. writes: "Will you kindly explain the plain language the cause of shingles, the symptoms, and if there is a cure?"

Answer: The name "shingles" is derived from the disorder caused by the deposit of toxic substances along certain nerve trunks to form on one side of the body at a time and is more frequently found on the upper back or around the ribs on one side. The nerves are inflamed and the skin breaks out in a rash wherever the most inflammation exists. Local treatments are not very effective. A real cure is the matter of the disorder will hasten recovery, but even under this treatment it often takes a week or so for the eruption to disappear. You may obtain more complete information by writing my article on this subject and sending in a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

(Send no money now.) Question: Mr. Herman C. writes: "I have been suffering from a right heel began to pain when walking and the pain was so bad that after recent x-ray pictures were taken, was advised to rest the foot about one-half inch of longer. Can this be relieved without the use of the knife?"

Answer: A spur, or excrescence of the bone of the foot, is caused by the irritation of rheumatic toxins and sometimes by the deposition of bone deposit found in arthritis. In some cases it is a result of cause an absorption of the bone by the foot, and in other cases it is advisable. In any case, distal should be used to change the position of the rheumatic toxins so that no more of the spur form.

(Others in the family.) Question: Harry D. writes: "Please tell me what to do for the tooth in the mouth. Tonics only seem to give temporary relief and the tooth soon returns." Answer: Chronic mouth ulcers are due to chronic infection, which produces an overgrowth of the gastric tube. The ulcers may be expected to return periodically until you learn to correct the hyperacidity of your stomach.

COURT RULES CHILD MUST BE GIVEN MOTHER

OAKLAND, March 30.—UP—Superior Judge John J. Allen today ruled he has no jurisdiction in the petition of Mrs. Sarah Scott for guardianship of Robert Berry, 14, San Francisco, because the boy's legal residence is San Francisco.

Robert therefor passed into the temporary custody of his mother, Mrs. Hazel Pashold Berry, San Francisco, despite the boy's stated preference for Mrs. Scott.

Mrs. Scott has reared the boy at intervals since his boyhood. She asserted in her guardianship petition that Mrs. Berry brought the child to the Scott home several weeks ago to recover from an illness and that when the mother called to take him home he refused to accompany her.

Under state law, a child may choose his own guardian if he is 14. Robert was 14 today. Mrs. Scott said she was undecided whether to carry the guardianship fight to San Francisco courts or appeal in Oakland from Judge Allen's ruling.

ONETAH TRIBE WILL HAVE DINNER DANCE

Coming social events were discussed last evening when Onetah Tribe of Red Men held its meeting at the clubrooms. Frank Smith presided.

Gives Warning Of Expiration Of Tax Moratorium

MARTINEZ, March 30.—County Auditor D. M. Tester today issued a warning to owners of properties on which taxes are delinquent that a state moratorium will expire on April 20. He issued the following statement:

"The 1935 legislature passed two emergency measures designed to give relief to taxpayers who have been unable to pay their county tax bills during the past few years. One of these permits the clearing of delinquent taxes levied before July 1, 1935, by paying only the taxes plus interest at 7 percent from July 1, 1934 to date of payment. The other permits the payment of such delinquent taxes in ten annual installments with interest at 7 percent on deferred balances, providing the current taxes are kept paid up in full. In both cases all penalties, other than the interest charge, are waived.

"Both of these measures expire limitation on April 20, 1936. There remains, therefore, but three weeks within which taxpayers may avail themselves of the relief embodied in them. It is the duty of this office to furnish estimates to any inquiring taxpayer of the amount of payment necessary to take advantage of either measure on any specified piece of property."

An old-fashioned dance will be held next Saturday night by the Townsend Club No. 1 at the WOW hall according to plans made last evening at a session of the organization.

On Wednesday night members will attend the meeting of the newly organized Point Richmond club. A speaker will be heard at the next meeting of the club.

George Black presided last night.

Guilty Plea Entered In Petty Theft Case

A plea of guilty to charges of theft of two bottles of milk from a creamery truck was entered by Charles Huerta, 23, of 123 Chandler avenue when he appeared before Police Judge C. A. Odell yesterday.

He will be sentenced on Friday. Last week Huerta's young wife attempted suicide following a domestic quarrel.

Chamber Works For Better Transportation

Fast, economical transportation between Richmond and San Francisco over the new bay bridge is one of the important matters confronting this city. Following its customary policy, the Chamber of Commerce is taking the leadership to make such transportation a reality. Regular meetings are being held under the auspices of the Transportation Committee of the Chamber at which the whole problem is being faced and a determined effort made to work out a practical solution.

The approach to the bridge takes off from San Pablo near Cutting Boulevard, and Richmond will be within thirty-five minutes of San Francisco for drivers of privately owned automobiles. But Richmond will be entirely without connection with San Francisco by bus or train, which places this city at a distinct disadvantage as far as commuting is concerned. It is this advantage which the Chamber proposes to overcome in the negotiations now actively under way. No definite plan has been worked out. The Chamber wishes to call attention to the importance of the problem and to urge the entire citizenry to rally behind the program for improved San Francisco transportation. There is already a general recognition that Richmond can only develop as a residential community if it provides transportation comparable to that of other east bay cities; and that increasing population means bigger sales for merchants and improved conditions for all concerned. The Chamber of Commerce will give vigorous support to this program.

The Transportation Committee, which is entrusted with the details, includes the following leaders: Fred S. Newsom, chairman; Reese Hays, W. P. St. Sure, Glenn Collins, W. B. Trull, E. L. Dyer, Fred D. Parr, Mayor W. W. Scott, B. X. Tucker, Gifford T. Douglas, and Clark L. Bargar.

YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Diet and Insulin Are Remedies for Diabetic Patients

By CLAUD NORTH CHRISMAN, M.D.

DIABETES MELLITUS is a coined phrase, diabetes coming from a word meaning to go through and mellitus, sugar or honey sweet. It is to be distinguished from diabetes insipidus in which there is a great increase of fluid containing no sugar. When a patient is said to have diabetes, it is the mellitus variety that is referred to.

Diabetes is an entirely too common disease occurring at all ages and being one disease that is much more difficult to control and more fatal in young persons than in old.

As I have stated before, it is a condition due to a decrease in the formation of insulin by the pancreas. The cause of the disease is unknown, but there are several conditions that seem to have a deciding influence. One of the chief of these is fatness among adults.

Of individuals over thirty years developing diabetes, eighty per cent are overweight. In those under thirty, only about forty per cent are overweight, but the younger the patient the more serious is the trouble.

Overeating is one of the frequent factors and it is often found that this overeating takes the form of excessive consumption of sugar and starches.

This habit, coupled with a sedentary life, seems to be a deciding factor. The disease is rare in countries where carbohydrate diet is low. Acute infections and injuries to the base of the brain are sometimes an exciting cause, but these cases seem more likely to recover. Heredity is sometimes claimed as a cause. The children of some parents may all develop diabetes shortly after birth, but often the parents are not diabetic.

If a child of a diabetic parent develops diabetes it is more mild than a child of a non diabetic.

The symptoms of diabetes are very characteristic but often so gradual that the disease may pass unnoticed for months and even for years. It is often discovered by accident in the course of a routine examination. One of the first things a patient is apt to notice is a great increase in the appetite. Loss of eye sight and strength becomes quite noticeable; boils and carbuncles are likely to develop, particularly on the back of the neck. In mild cases and among elderly patients, these signs may be scarcely noticeable until some serious infection increases an anorexia and calls attention to the trouble.

The severity of the disease depends upon the amount of pancreatic juices secreted and the quantity of insulin it contains. Mild cases in the young and in elderly persons are treated almost entirely by diet. It stands to reason that when the system cannot use carbohydrates they must be restricted, but a certain amount is necessary if we are to escape acidosis.

Proteins and fats may be substituted to a certain extent and a very difficult thing to adjust the consumption of these substances so as to keep up the patient's strength and keep down the excess of sugar. Starvation diet would appear to be indicated, but if carried to too great a length, acidosis, with convulsions, come and death may result.

Insulin has gone a great way in the control of the condition. It does not cure the disease, but it enables the patient in digesting a sufficient amount of these foods so that he may live in comfort and maintain his strength.

Modes and Manners

QUESTION: "If one's guests are engaged in conversation when a newcomer arrives, is it in order to interrupt for the purpose of making introductions?"—D. C.

ANSWER: The nicest should wait for the conversation to end, or for a suitable lull before introducing the newcomer. Meanwhile she and the guest may converse together, or both may listen to the others and perhaps even contribute something to the discussion if they find it interesting. The mere fact that persons are guests of the same hostess makes them friends under her roof, whether they have been introduced as yet or not.

QUESTION: "We have one maid in our household. How should she dress and who pays for the uniforms?"—O. L.

ANSWER: The mistress supplies the uniforms. Then, and only then can she dictate how the servant should dress. In order that a general servant may look neat at all times, there should be two styles of uniform, a work uniform and one for serving. A work uniform of chambray with the regulation bib apron is neat for work. For serving, straight lines and long sleeves are best. Green and gray may be worn for evening as well as for work. Organza collar and cuffs set with rayon to match complete the evening costume. It is up to the maid to keep her uniforms clean and mended.

Profile For Today

A Woman Writer Who Sticks to Seclusion Is Margaret Jackson

By TALBOT LAKE

WIVES and mothers who deplore lack of opportunity to go out into the world and help make a living or try to carve out a career are often referred to the story of Mary Roberts Rinehart, who wrote successful stories with a baby on her lap.

A more nearly modern instance is that of Margaret Weymouth Jackson, fiction writer, who not only has stuck to her home in semi-rural Indiana, but who also, for many years, refused to go to New York to be interviewed by magazine editors.

"Margie" Jackson is the daughter of a small-town publisher in Spencer, Ind. About ten years ago she began writing and selling her stories to magazines of national circulation. Importantly, she went to the literary capital and make herself known at teas and receptions, she declined, saying she was a hoosier author who would be out of place anywhere except in her native Indiana.

I have known Mrs. Jackson from the time of her first literary success and she has not changed in any important particular. She simply translates the events of her small-town environment into fiction and is content to be a wife and mother, letting the rest of the world go by.

Mrs. Jackson has her male counterpart in Joseph Hergeheimer, who lives quietly in the outskirts of sleepy West Chester, Pa., and who has to be dragged to New York.

Her husband gives a good example to successful women by refusing even to suggest a slight to her husband. If she writes you a letter, you will find that the letterhead is that of her husband. The only reason she includes her maiden name of "Weymouth" in her pen name is that her father has been for years a well-known Hoosier editor.

Study Your Own Type to Win Charm

By JACQUELINE HUNT

COLORFUL spring costumes, pretty hats and new cosmetics in alluring shades make us feel a little giddy right now!

After months of dull, winter garments we want to burst forth as gay as butterflies. But the girl who is wise will not rush to get the prettiest things she sees just because they appeal to her. She will study her type and dress and make up to it!

What is your type? If you are fair-skinned with blond or light brown hair, use delicate pastel shades in your cosmetics and in your costumes. Bright colors which contrast with the natural tones of your skin are unnatural and unattractive.

If you have vivid coloring, dark eyes and a brilliant mouth, use the deeper shades in cosmetics and in your costumes. Pastel shades would make you look drab and lifeless. Vivid shades—or white—which contrast with and accent your natural coloring will give you most satisfaction.

The most important thing that you must watch out for are clashes between your costume and make-up colors.

The commonest mistake of this kind is the use of rouges with a slightly orange with fabrics of a purplish hue or the other way around.

There are certain costume shades that are always difficult to wear unless the make-up is just so, then the complexion and fabric tones must be brought into harmony with the skillful use of eye-shadow, rouge and lipstick.

For instance, the blonde who likes to wear gray should use a warm creamy rose shade of face powder, American Beauty rouge and lipstick, black or dark brown eyebrow pencil and mascara and silvery-gray eye shadow. With chartreuse, which is a difficult yellowish-green, she should use the same shade of face powder and lipstick, a slightly lighter shade of powder, a soft rose rouge and lipstick, and green eye shadow. With the paler shades of violet she should use a light rachel powder, light rose rouge and lipstick and soft violet eye shadow.

The brunette who wears gray will find a light rachel or ivory powder, vivid poppy lipstick and rouge and silver-gray or blue eye shadow best. With red or coral she will wear a slightly darker shade of face powder, a nautarium or russet rouge and lipstick, dark brown eyebrow pencil and mascara and blue or bronze eye shadow.

With black she will wear the face powder that blends most harmoniously with her complexion coloring, a very vivid rouge, black mascara and green or a silver-flecked violet eye shadow. The pale, clear-skinned girl with very dark hair may use rather heavy eye make-up and vivid lipstick and omit cheek rouge for an excellent effect when she wears black.

Skillful make-up is not always enough to overcome difficulties between complexion and costume tones. Some girls, for instance, should never wear red—or green—or violet. If you like a color that is doubtful, then you use it in your accessories. Often with a flattering frock, very interesting effects can be worked out.

For instance, the blonde who likes to wear gray should use a warm creamy rose shade of face powder, American Beauty rouge and lipstick, black or dark brown eyebrow pencil and mascara and silvery-gray eye shadow. With chartreuse, which is a difficult yellowish-green, she should use the same shade of face powder and lipstick, a slightly lighter shade of powder, a soft rose rouge and lipstick, and green eye shadow. With the paler shades of violet she should use a light rachel powder, light rose rouge and lipstick and soft violet eye shadow.

The brunette who wears gray will find a light rachel or ivory powder, vivid poppy lipstick and rouge and silver-gray or blue eye shadow best. With red or coral she will wear a slightly darker shade of face powder, a nautarium or russet rouge and lipstick, dark brown eyebrow pencil and mascara and blue or bronze eye shadow.

With black she will wear the face powder that blends most harmoniously with her complexion coloring, a very vivid rouge, black mascara and green or a silver-flecked violet eye shadow. The pale, clear-skinned girl with very dark hair may use rather heavy eye make-up and vivid lipstick and omit cheek rouge for an excellent effect when she wears black.

Skillful make-up is not always enough to overcome difficulties between complexion and costume tones. Some girls, for instance, should never wear red—or green—or violet. If you like a color that is doubtful, then you use it in your accessories. Often with a flattering frock, very interesting effects can be worked out.

There are certain costume shades that are always difficult to wear unless the make-up is just so, then the complexion and fabric tones must be brought into harmony with the skillful use of eye-shadow, rouge and lipstick.

Misty Tulle And Chiffons Fish Depends on Serving Invite Ladies And Sauces for Popularity

By IRENE VAIL

NEW YORK—The time has come, as the walrus is wont to remark, when women who want "to take a walk and have a little talk" are sure to talk about spring wardrobes.

If such is not their conversational theme it's because they are talking of summer ones when these airy, fairy gowns, all misty tulle or shadowy chiffon, get into action. Tulle over tulle, chiffon over chiffon, could anything sound more exquisitely dainty—or grown-up?

There are more formal, grown-up looking dresses in less diaphanous materials, but they are of secondary importance, at least to the dancing set.

That some nets are dotted in chenille is just a gentle reminder that bolero is not the only Spanish note sounded. Peplums, boleros, redingotes, boxy jackets and capes with a full back swing skirts without trains but long all around, bodice cut high, cut low, cut square, round, even V-shape, but newer still with only one shoulder exposed, all these details come to mind after viewing practically endless processions of charming clothes designed for living the full and abundant life.

A reporter of future fashions which made no mention of broad cloth would be an inadequate one. Lanvin decided that white broad-cloth would make a stunning square shoulder cape, just the thing for flinging about one's shoulders on summery nights, and voila, the entire world of fashion suddenly awakened to the fact that broadcloth was the choice of elegance and should be again.

The wool evening wrap is a season or more old, but these new white broadcloth ones are something apart in their appeal to youth.

Speaking of woollens and of shades of mauve, violet and heatherish purples are now looked upon as the right color for Spring.

Broiled Salmon

Mix together 1/4 cup salad oil, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1/2 teaspoon salt and a dash each of lemon and cayenne. In this marinade for 30 minutes, fresh salmon steaks or the quick-frozen ones. Boil on a greased broiler near the flame until brown on one side, turn and broil on the other until just done. Arrange on a hot chop plate with hot buttered asparagus tips and golden brown, crisp French fried potato strings. Put a small sprig of parsley and a scalloped lemon slice on each salmon slice.

Savory Baked Filets

Butter a baking dish and put in an extra lump of butter the size of a walnut. Chop fine 1 small onion or shallot, tops and all, 2 tablespoons parsley and 1/2 cup mushrooms. Spread this savory mixture in the bottom of the baking dish. Sprinkle filets of haddock or flounder well with salt and pepper and lay on top of the chopped vegetables. Put in 2 tablespoons water and 2 tablespoons dry white wine for a subtle flavor. Bake for 15 or 20 minutes in a hot oven.

Boiled Fish

Thick fish steaks or filets of whole fish can be boiled and this is an excellent method of cooking, too, if you want to serve it cold or hot with a savory sauce and use the left-overs for creaming, croquettes or salads. Tie the fish in cheesecloth and plunge into a kettle of boiling water to which 1 teaspoon salt and 1 tablespoon lemon juice have been added. Boil 5 minutes, then reduce the heat and simmer until the fish is tender, allowing 6 to 10 minutes per pound depending on the thickness of the fish. Serve with egg, parsley, caper, fish, cheese, mornay, curry or cucumber sauce.

Curry Sauce

Saute 1/3 cup minced onion and 1 cup diced, pared and cored apples in 3 tablespoons butter, 3/4 teaspoon salt, a speck pepper and 1/2 teaspoon curry powder and blend thoroughly. Add 1 1/2 cups milk and cook over boiling water, stirring constantly until thickened. Cover and cook 10 minutes. This is especially good with a white fish.

Maitre d'Hotel Sauce

Work 1/3 cup butter in a bowl with a spoon until it is creamy. Then, while stirring slowly add 2 teaspoons minced parsley, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper and 1 tablespoon lemon juice. You may add 1/4 teaspoon chopped onion and 2 teaspoons minced pimiento or green pepper if you like the taste.

MODERN WOMEN

Good Husbands Are Hard to Find, so Be Careful of Them

By MARIAN MAY'S MARTIN

MY JOB in life seems to be grappling with problems, not only my own but those of others. I know a problem when I see one and am even able to sense that one is brewing but I cannot dignify the position in which the writer of the following letter finds herself as a problem. Nor can I see that there is any need for her waiting for me to point the solution—even assuming her difficulty could be described as a problem. Here is the letter:

You and Your Child

Rough Attitude by Mother Does Not Break Habits

By JANE HERBERT GOWARD

"TAKE your hand out of your mouth," Harold took his hand out of his mouth. "How many times must I tell you to stop biting your nails!" The child did not answer. He looked at his mother and blinked his eyes. And before he realized it, a finger had slipped into his mouth and he was taking another chew.

"See, There you go again," Mother pulled the hand from his mouth roughly. Then she made him a proposition. "Chewed-off nails are ugly. And they look sore, too. Are they sore, Harold?" Harold pointed to a finger. "Only this one," he said. "Well, they'll all get like that if you don't stop it. I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll give you a nickel a week for every nail you don't bite. You'll try, won't you?" Harold promised.

But Harold went on biting his fingernails just the same. Mother, in desperation, decided to try a different alms again. She could not understand why it had not worked last time. So after applying it this time, she studied the lad closely and discovered him sucking it off.

As a next move, she had the boy wear gloves, and to keep him from chewing his fingertips she had to devote herself to watching and warning him to keep his hands away from his mouth. Discouraged, her annoyance with the boy mounted until finally she removed the gloves in a fit of anger and threatened, "I'll slap your hands, if I catch you chewing your fingernails again." Harold's hands were to be slapped many times after this. In fact, they are still being slapped.

It is unfortunate that mothers, in attempting to cure a child of nail-biting, are unaware that the habit is unconscious on the part of the child. A rough, vindictive attitude does not get results. It merely serves to fix the habit in the child. If a mother really wishes to cure this habit, she can do it. She might try removing the child's hand from his mouth, whenever she finds it there.

What other wives do is a concern of yours. You are not responsible for their misdeeds, but you are definitely responsible for your own. You do not need me to tell you that you are placing yourself in a most unenviable position. Of course I understand what you are trying to tell me and what this young man who "truly loves you" is demanding. You are doing for a moment think that your situation was an unusual one, did you? Don't you realize that there are always around young married women in the hope that they may be able to take their fun where they find it?

When a worthwhile man finds himself in love with another man's wife he only hangs around long enough to learn what her feelings for him are, then he does one of two things: He either insists on a divorce—so that he may marry her—or he goes on his way hoping to get over his folly at a safe distance. These are the courses open to an honorable man.

You may be too young and inexperienced to be capable of judging to which class this particular man belongs. Since you only like him, I strongly advise you to send him about his business without delay and before you are led into further mischief. Good husbands are hard to find. If you have one, he most certainly deserves a fairer, squarer deal than he is getting from you.

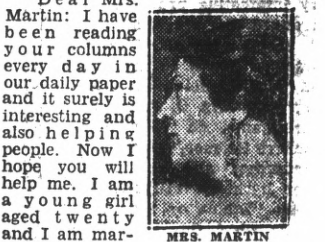

Mrs. Martin will be glad to answer in this column questions of general interest. Write on one side of the paper only and address her care of this paper. Mrs. Martin cannot reply individually to every correspondence. Names will not be published.

"Dear Mrs. Martin: I have been reading your columns every day in one daily paper and it surely is interesting and also helping people. Now I hope you will help me. I am a young girl aged twenty and I am married for one and a half years. My husband and I get along fine. He loves me and I love him. But there is a young fellow that truly loves me, I am sure. He has kissed me with tears in his eyes. But I am worried that I have cheated my husband by being kissed by this fellow. He asked me a personal question, which I cannot answer unless you say so. I cannot give in to him because it makes me feel that I am cheating my husband. Of course, there are other girls who do the same thing, but I am very worried. Please help me. He truly loves me and I also like him. If I answer his question he says nobody will ever know, so please solve my problem, which I cannot explain any better to you. I hope you will understand what I mean, also what he wants me to do, and why I am afraid. Please answer soon. I have lost weight worrying over this problem. H.B."

A young married woman who permits a man other than her husband to kiss her and who is at a loss, even for a moment, as to how she will withstand his advances, might as well admit from the start that she is not in love with her husband.

I might also point out that because a man has fallen in love with a woman, his state of mind in no way imposes any obligation on her. She is not obligated to respond to his overtures, especially when she bluntly admits to a mere liking for him.

I don't wonder that you are worried. It's your conscience. You have been cheating your husband; be decent enough to admit it.

What other wives do is a concern of yours. You are not responsible for their misdeeds, but you are definitely responsible for your own. You do not need me to tell you that you are placing yourself in a most unenviable position. Of course I understand what you are trying to tell me and what this young man who "truly loves you" is demanding. You are doing for a moment think that your situation was an unusual one, did you? He will be succeeded in the land utilization bureau by Edwin E. Wilson.

Bum Blockade Suit Dropped; U. S. Quiz Asked

LOS ANGELES, March 30.—UP—The $5000 suit of John Langan, mining man, against Chief of Police James E. Davis for "bum blockade" activities was in the hands of U. S. Attorney Person Hall tonight following Langan's withdrawal of charges today after alleged "police terrorism".
Federal Judge Albert Stephens referred the case to Hall after John C. Packard, Langan's attorney, told the court that the dismissal had been prompted by police threats.

Army Blimp Is Forced Down On Record Flight 10

SUNNYVALE, March 30.—UP—The U. S. Army blimp, T-4 14, was forced to land under heavy weather conditions at 4:50 p. m. today, after failing to establish an endurance record for lighter-than-air craft.

Captain L. A. Lawson and a crew of seven brought the airship to the giant Sunnyvale hangar here after remaining aloft since 11:15 a. m. Friday, a total elapsed time of 74 hours 25 minutes.

Originally, Captain Lawson intended to break the accepted record of 126 hours, but increasingly strong winds and rain storms which threatened to grow worse during the night made descent "advisable," he said.

The members of the crew were in good condition when they landed. They had sufficient food provisions for a week's flight and comfortable quarters in the underground structure of the blimp.

Berry Is Named Co-Ordinator Of Jobless Program

MIAMI, Fla., March 30.—UP—President Roosevelt tonight designated Major General George L. Berry as co-ordinator for industrial cooperation, charged with finding ways to increase employment.
The designation was made in an executive order from the presidential yacht Potomac on which Mr. A. Roosevelt is vacationing. The order was flown to temporary White House offices at the Miami Biltmore here.

Following Langan's withdrawal of charges today after alleged "police terrorism", Federal Judge Albert Stephens referred the case to Hall after John C. Packard, Langan's attorney, told the court that the dismissal had been prompted by police threats.

month ago by Harold Hunter, reputed companion of the desperado, and set it afire by tossing tear and flare gas into it.

Then the G-men reportedly extinguished the flames and entered the house, removing its occupants. The raiders carried machine guns bullet proof vests tear and flare gas and gas masks.

Local D. O. J. headquarters denied anyone had been arrested, but reports persisted that one of the three prisoners was Karpis, who more than a year ago blasted his way out of a room in an Atlantic City hotel.

Since then the desperado has been reported in a score of cities and once reportedly mailed a death threat from Dayton, O. to J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Justice Department's division of investigation.

Those who previously submitted not guilty pleas are George Chapman, presiding judge; J. H. Hayes, calculator; Richard Wilfiam, money room employee; J. J. Marsala, option seller; R. F. Bockius, change window; and S. S. Hudson, announcer.

All of the men are at liberty on bail. Charges against them were filed after District Attorney Francis P. Henley had the track raided last December.

The men will be tried before a jury but it appeared doubtful if Judge Johnston would preside. He said he might call in an outside judge.

Chinese Ship Is Reported To Be In Danger

MANILA, Tuesday, March 31.—The S. S. Pei An is aground and in need of immediate assistance, according to radio advices reported by Radio Corporation of America today.

The vessel's position was given as longitude 20.08 north and latitude 107.43 east.

Marine listings show the Pei An to be a 2600 net ton vessel, owned by the North China Steamship company, 326 feet in length and built in 1902.

The position given indicated the ship was in the vicinity of Hong-kong.

STATELY AND carefully Britain's new giant liner, the Queen Mary, travels under her own steam from the shipyard at Clydebank, Scotland, into the open water of the Firth of Clyde, enroute to Southampton. Thousands along the shore saw the 80,000-ton ship ground twice in the narrow Clyde, though each time she refloated.

hours to reach its decision. For five of those hours it listened to lawyers in what must have been a nerve-tearing session.

For the state, Attorney General David T. Wilentz appeared to complete the work he started in Hunterdon county court a year ago in January.

For the defense, C. Lloyd Fisher, brisk young Flemington attorney, made what may be his last fight.

BELIEVE BRUNO GUILTY

The effect of the court's decision was to reaffirm its belief in Hauptmann's sole responsibility for the Lindbergh murder.

It tossed out, as unworthy of consideration three last minute developments in the strange case that began four years ago this month on the slope of Sourland mountain.

NO INDICTMENT

The court's ruling was a moral acquittal for Paul H. Wendel, disbarred Trenton lawyer who is in Mercer county jail charged with the murder of the Lindbergh baby.

Wendel, who "confessed" twice to the kidnapping and then repudiated his confessions, may be taken before the Mercer county grand jury tomorrow for action on the murder indictment.

Virtually all officials involved agreed that he would not be indicted for murder. At various times he has been under observation for a mental ailment.

TALL TALE

The tall tale told by Gaston B. Means from his cell in Leavenworth penitentiary also was thrown out by the court. Means is serving a sentence for hoaxing Mrs. Evelyn Walsh McLean out of $104,000 on the promise that he could produce the Lindbergh baby. Now he has confessed in Leavenworth that he did the kidnapping. The opinion of state police is that Means' prison life began to pall on him, and that he thought a "confession" might get him a train ride.

The third thing disregarded by the court was evidence collected by Robert Hicks, investigator for Governor Hoffman. Hicks appeared today bearing a strange, box-like device which he said was an instrument for measuring saw cuts and nail holes in boards. He also had what he called an affidavit from the Cuban secret police, saying the late Isidor Fisch, two other men and a woman appeared in Havana in the fall of 1932—six months after the Lindbergh ransom was paid—and tried to buy a farm.

accents on youth to such an extent, they claim, that many women find themselves old even at 25 as evidenced in advertisements for sales people, models, chorus girls, clerks and beauty operators "under 25."

"It's a bit grim," one of them remarked, "when you remember that great artists and writers have said that women's real beauty is not attained until she reaches '30.'"

The organization has gathered on 3 crusade to educate employers, as to the advantages of experience, favoring of coffee, the question of age. Perhaps the wives of employers in England will take up the cudgels in behalf of these discarded women, motivated by the thought that their own peace of mind would be enhanced by having them, instead of youth and beauty in the offices of their husbands, and thus solve a vexatious problem.

Seven Injured In Car Crashes Here On Sunday

A series of accidents in Richmond Sunday brought injuries to seven persons, according to police reports.

Mrs. Laura Torney of Martinez, sustained cuts and bruises when she was allegedly struck down by a car driven by Leroy Berry, 39, of Davis, in San Pablo, as the woman attempted to walk across the highway. She was treated at a local hospital.

Howard Mann, 704 Madison street Albany, sustained cuts and bruises when the car in which he was riding, and which was driven by A. F. Lemas of Albany, collided with a machine driven by D. W. Roth, 162 Santa Fe avenue at Thirty-seventh street and Roosevelt avenue. Lemas was cut on the hands and face and Mrs. Roth, who was riding with her husband, complained of back injuries but refused medical attention.

D. E. Williams, 24, of 227 Sixth street, sustained cuts when his car crashed into the rail guard at the eastern end of the subway. He was later booked on charges of drunkenness and will appear in court Friday.

Mrs. Zella Dutra, of Richmond and J. M. Luis, San Pablo, escaped injuries when their machines collided at Gaynor avenue and Fifteenth street.

Leonard Ghiorso, 22, of Berkeley and Salvato Cassara, 16, also of Berkeley, sustained slight injuries when their car, driven by Ghiorso, was side-swiped by a hit-and-run driver.

Giant lodge of Odd Fellows will conduct funeral services from the Wilson & Kratzer chapel on Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 for the late William John Thomas, well known Hercules resident who died yesterday morning at the age of 71. Cremation at Oakland will follow the funeral.

Deceased had lived in the Hercules area for 28 years, during which time he was employed by the powder company for 17 years.

The deceased was a member of Oakland lodge, No. 118, I. O. O. F. Sunset Rebekah lodge and Alcatraz lodge of Masons, all of Oakland. This year would have marked his fiftieth year as an Odd Fellow.

He is survived by a sister, Mrs. Ella Gerrish of Hercules. He was the brother of the late Mrs. Kate Talbot, Mrs. Lilly Menges and Griff Thomas, all of Oakland.

Persia Breaks With U. S. Over Envoy's Arrest

WASHINGTON, March 30.—UP.—The Iranian (Persian) government has informed the State Department that it is withdrawing its diplomatic and consular representatives in the United States. The United Press learned tonight.

The withdrawal constitutes a partial break in relations between Iran and the United States. Iran took the step in protest over allegedly discourteous remarks in the American press after detention of Iranian Minister Ghafar Djalal in Elton, Mo. some months ago on charges of speeding.

Relations with Iran will be maintained through the American diplomatic mission in Teheran.

tempting to get Marilyn away from Miss Wilkinson. She had paid her to keep the child from the time the girl was eight weeks old until last summer.

"Then I took the child away," said the mother. "Miss Wilkinson moved into the neighborhood."

WORKED AT NIGHT

"She used to wait on the street for the child to come home from school, and take her downtown to buy things for her. Finally I had to order Miss Wilkinson to stay out of our house, but she continued to see Marilyn whenever she could."

"I work at night and when the housekeeper was busy, Miss Wilkinson came and took Marilyn out."

NOTE FOUND

In a rambling note found in the newly-rented apartment, Miss Wilkinson told of her love for the child and her inability to sleep since the mother took the girl away. She had apparently written it after drowning Marilyn.

"It was the only way to save an unfortunate helpless child from the clutches of a heartless woman," she wrote. "I consider I was her mother, as I fed her, cared for her day and night and through sickness."

Japan Military Agents Seized By Red Troops

TOKIO, Japan, Tuesday, March 31.—UP.—The tense situation between Japan and Soviet Russia in the "no man's land" between Western Manchukuo and Outer Mongolia was further complicated today by the report of seizure of three Japanese military agents by Mongol-Soviet troops.

The agents, a Manchukuo and two Koreans, were sent into the disputed territory at a point north of Lake Hanka to confer with the Soviet officers, commanding Mongol forces in the region.

They had not returned today and it was believed they were held by the Russo-Mongol troops who holed up in the mountains from them about the strength of Manchukuo-Japanese forces.

Meantime the agents under dispute, in which Japan is supporting the Manchukuo and Russia, Outer Mongolia was developing into a major controversy.

Headquarters of the Japanese Kwantung army in Hsinking, capital of Manchukuo announced that two Soviet-Mongol airplanes had dropped leaflets announcing they were "closing the border" in the region of Lake Bolson.

TAXES CANCELLED

At the request of Colonel John H. Skeggs of the State Highway commission, the taxes on 11 lots in the Richmond Annex, Alto Puma tract, and Bay View tract, were ordered cancelled.

These lots have been purchased by the state and they will be used in the construction of the new highway from the San Francisco-Oakland bridge.

the Sugar Institute case, but Walter L. Rice, special assistant to the attorney general, characterized it as a "sweeping victory" for the government.

The decision upheld, with modifications, a lower court ruling that the institute's efforts to eliminate "cut-throat" competition expanded legal limits under the Sherman Anti-trust act.

HUGHES READS OPINION

Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes read the opinion, holding the sugar agreement went too far by limiting competition in prices and upholding the lower court's ruling against steps to divorce the functions of brokers and warehousemen and to regulate transportation rates.

The textile, plate glass and rubber industries had joined the sugar group in pleading for a liberal interpretation of the anti-trust laws to enable industry to enforce its own rules of fair play against destructive trade practices.

Poultry Thieves To Plead Guilty And Take 'Rap'

MARTINEZ, March 30.—Returned from New Mexico, where they were arrested last week, two men and a woman, claimed by Sheriff John A. Miller to have operated more extensively as poultry thieves in the bay district than any other group in years, were being held in the county jail here today after allegedly admitting their guilt and promising they will plead guilty to burglary charges.

They are Roy Winans, 26, arrested at Hillsboro, N. M.; his wife, Virginia, 26, arrested at Arroyo, N. M.; Mrs. Winans' brother Clyde O. Howell, 22, arrested at Carlsbad, N. M.

They were returned by Deputy Sheriffs Ralph Harrison and Ted Crist and Mrs. Crist after they waived extradition.

Officers say they fled San Pablo three months ago when they were about to be arrested, abandoning personal property and stolen poultry.

Mrs. Winans told officers she is to become a mother.

Operations of the trio, officers said, extended through Contra Costa, Alameda and San Joaquin counties.

Harrison announced that on their return both the men and the woman admitted perpetrating many burglaries. Mrs. Winans confessing that she accompanied the men on their ranch raiding expeditions.

Flood Relief Drive In City Passes $1000

Mrs. Mattie Chandler, chairman of the Red Cross drive committee yesterday announced that a total of $1025 has been raised for flood relief. She believes that Richmond's quota of $1200 will be realized before the drive is ended.

The Richmond police department has swelled the total by a donation of $37.50. Other organizations and firms that have contributed liberally are Filice and Perrelli, Pt. Richmond Aerie of Eagles, International Association of Machinists, 26-29 Club, Contra Costa Temple of Pethian Sisters, Faith Missionary circle of the Berean Bible class, Princeton Knitting Mills, Mechanics Bank and employees, American Trust Company, Bank of America, First National Bank, Albert's store and employees, Richmond Typographical Union, No. 738, and many individuals.
